CONSPIRACY IS NIPPED IN BUD

(Correspondence of Associated Press)

TOKIO, June 26.—The police announce the arrest of a Korean named Jo-Se-Kan, of Tokio, on the charge of having made preparations to assassinate Prince Yi, of Korea, on the occasion of his marriage to the imperial Japanese princess, Nashimoto. It is alleged that the Korean plotted to kill the wedding couple on their way to the imperial palace at Tokio in April, as well as Baron Saito, the governor-general of Korea, and other notables. This plan was not executed, say the police, due to the vigilance of the authorities.

In his preliminary examinations the prisoner admitted, it is said, that he is an advocate of the Korean independence movement, and that he was a firm believer that the wedding of Prince Yi to a Japanese princess of the blood would be a telling blow against any hopes that the country might ever have of gaining the right of self-government. He planned the wholesale killing in order that he might rekindle hopes in the breasts of his fellow Koreans.

URGE STRINGENT LIQUOR PENALTY

(Correspondence of Associated Press)

OTTAWA, July 24.—As long as profits from bootlegging are what they are, and the only deterrent is a fine of $200 or so, there will be big money in the bootlegging game and it will be very difficult for the authorities on either side of the international line to stamp out the traffic.

This is the summary of opinions expressed by Ottawa officials as to the situation regarding smuggling of liquor from Canada to the United States. Further, high officials of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police say that while they are doing all in their power to check infractions of the federal laws in this respect, it is really for the American authorities to see that liquor does not reach the thirsty souls beyond the imaginary line 3000 miles long.

The situation apparently is that from those provinces in particular there is a large trade in bootlegging to the United States. These are Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. At the same time a respectable quantity of fiery liquid is finding its way across from the maritime provinces and from Manitoba.

At Windsor and in the surrounding districts the mounted police are carrying on a constant campaign against the illegal liquor vendors, and many have been landed into court and condemned to pay fines from $200 up. One parched Detroit man, however, is said to have parted with $500 for three cases of Scotch whiskey, which reached him via the "underground route" a short time ago, so that the profits in the illegal trade are known to be enormous. Information from Windsor and district intimates to the authorities here that some farmers in that vicinity have found it more profitable to smuggle liquor across the border than to farm and have let their farms run to weeds while they pursue the elusive dollar via the bootlegging route.

QUEBEC IS MECCA

Quebec, it is stated, is the mecca for thirty thousands of Americans every week-end, and automobiles passing back and forth carry their loads of human and other freight bound for the Sahara across the border. Under these conditions Canadian police authorities admit that it is practically impossible to enforce the stringent liquor laws at present in force.

The chief reason for the difficulty of enforcement according to an official of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who have under their jurisdiction the carrying out of all federal laws, is the fact that many people are not in sympathy with the liquor legislation, and the securing of contraband liquor is regarded in many quarters as an achievement rather than a disgrace.

However, if the carrying of liquor into the United States from Canada is to be prevented, it is intimated that it will have to be done by an army of customs inspectors and police on the American side of the line rather than in Canada.

GREAT DREDGING JOB BEING DONE

(Correspondence of Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 26.—Death by drowning or dynamite—these are chief among the dangers facing the men who are dredging the East river to Long Island sound that New York may have another deep sea passage to the Atlantic.

How this undertaking, which will require 15 to 20 years and an expenditure of $55,000,000 to $75,000,000, is being carried on was told here today by officials of the dredging company, which is doing the work.

"Most of the work must be done during the slack water period at the change of tides, and as there is generally from 500 to 1000 pounds of dynamite aboard each drift boat, the danger of being rammed by passing craft and sent to the bottom is complicated with the possibility of being blown into the air," one official said.

"In Hell Gate we are demolishing Frying Pan reef, which is 30 feet by 350 feet. From eight to ten months will be required to complete this task. A drift boat is being warped across it in parallel paths 30 feet apart, drilling holes into which from 100 to 150 pounds of dynamite is packed and exploded. A dippers dredge, following the drift boat, hauls the blasted rock into skows for dumping into holes 15 feet deep or more in the river. This leveling of the river bottom removes the source of eddies, smoothing the current.

"Pot Rock, another reef in Hell Gate will be destroyed next because of the treacherous currents for which it is responsible. Pot Rock is known as the wickedest spot in American waters.

"The longest slack water period registered in Hell Gate during the last 10 years was 22 minutes. It is within that slack period that drilling points must be located, charges planted and fired and the position of the plant changed. Divers on this work are generally unable to spend more than 15 minutes underwater at a time so that they work but half an hour in a 24-hour day.

"As a precaution against being rammed by passing craft, the navy department and customs house officials have warned operators and owners of vessels to keep a safe distance from dredging plants. For non-compliance with this warning $5 captains were arraigned recently within a period of 10 days. Many were suspended for from 10 days to six months.

"When the red light signal is sounded on one of the dredging vessels, each of the dynamite crew wearing life belts, grabs a box of the explosive and stands by to jump overboard.

"The project of dredging the East river to the sound was first undertaken 40 years ago to provide New York harbor with an entrance which would not require continuous dredging like Ambrose channel, where five government dredgers are constantly removing the infiltrating sands. Flood Rock in Hell Gate, was then removed and some lesser work accomplished before the appropriation was exhausted.

When Flood Rock was blasted a charge of 100,000 pounds of dynamite was fired, the official said. Launches on the river a mile away were lifted three feet out of the water, but no damage resulted.
